CHAUTAUQUA TO BE HERE AUGUST 18-20

Rare Treat That Is Educational, Humorous and Entertaining for Both Old and Young.

The Radcliff Chautauqua will entertain the people of Crossville and the county, for three days commencing Thursday, August 18. There will be six entertainments, afternoon and night of each day. The entertainment furnished is of a high order, both in pleasant entertainment and an educational way. This season the Radcliff Company offers more humor than has been the custom in the past, but this change has in no way lowered the character of the service they render. It was done in the belief that after several years of what might be termed by some "heavy mental food" they thought best to give a larger measure of humor this year.

So much has happened in the last few years of a world character, that the field of entertainment as well as information of our people generally has been greatly broadened. Therefore your ability to enjoy as well as quantity, quality and variety of entertainment has been greatly enlarged. You should be sure to attend every meeting for by missing a single one you will miss much pleasure and rich entertainment. Season tickets—for the full six entertainments—cost adults $2.00, children, $1.00; Single admissions 50 cents and 25 cents.

At the close of the chautauqua last year the following persons signed to have it return this year, and guaranteed $500.00 for the three days and nights:

Robert Potter, W. F. Bandy, F. A. Loshbough, W. A. Reed, Geo. P. Burnett, H. I. Bilbrey, G. A. Haley, G. F. Brookhart, F. A. McCarth, W. L. Guthrie, M. F. Reed, J. L. Rose, H. C. Hendley, Mrs. M. F. Reed, J. E. Taylor, Mrs. J. E. Taylor, G. W. Hill, John Q. Burnett, J. H. Findlay ($100), C. Strohm, J. L. Culp, K. L. Bilbrey, W. C. Elmore, J. L. Burnett, J. B. Johnson, Andy Elmore, Mrs. J. W. Dorton, Mrs. F. A. Loshbough, B. A. Smith, Chas. Comstock, T. M. Irish, Mrs. S. C. Bishop, H. R. Webb, T. F. Brown and A. L. Garrison.

Those who signed this guarantee should see to it that every thing possible is done to make it a success that they will not be called on to make up a deficit. Those who did not sign should feel under obligations to do something that would help the community. If it were a cheap show that was not calculated to benefit any one, its success would be assured. Let us all give this Chautauqua our support in every way possible and help do something that is worth while to the community.

Herewith we give the program for the full threedays; read it carefully and you will see that there is a rich treat in store for all who attend:

Miss Florence Van Nostrand

The new program of the Radcliffe Chautauqua this season will have, in entertainments, two numbers of especial interest to the little folks. This part of the program will be under the direction of Miss Florence Van Nostrand, who has a splendid reputation as a story-teller, and excels especially in her platform work before large and varied groups of children.

This special treat for the children has been arranged through the local Chautauqua committee, and it will be something the boys and girls will remember for a long time.

Her well-told stories are of absorbing interest as stories. But they go much further than that. Each points to a precept and emphasizes a virtue, and the value of the impressions made upon the minds of the young is intangible but very real in the process of character building.

These stories, supplemented by the games she will introduce, are real formative influences, teaching self-mastery, co-operation, generosity, sympathy, and fairness.

Special efforts will be made toward continuing influences through the medium of a Young America Club.

The Kirk Fredericks Company

Mr. Frederick is a violinist of international repute. He has scored success in nearly all the countries of Europe and has made many tours of the United States. He captivates his audiences by the full, rich tones and delicacy of phrasing that distinguish every real artist. As this is the seventh season for this company's work on the Chautauqua platform, few words are necessary to comment on its excellence. While every member is capable of rendering the most technical selections, nevertheless, their program is of a distinctly popular arrangement. It combines the lighter forms of music with classic interpretations—the grave alternating with the gay. There is never a dull moment. But after all, the popularity of the Company must be ascribed to fact that they render real music—good music—which makes its appeal to all hearts—when artists are endowed with the power, the fire and the sympathy to interpret it like the Fredericks Company. Their work speaks with an eloquence far beyond the power of spoken words.

Lectures on American Ideals.

America was founded on great ideals by our forefathers. Those ideals have come by common acceptance to be the ideals by which our nation is supposed to be guided and governed. More than anything else they have made for success. Because of them our country has become the land of opportunity for millions form all nations, as well as those born under our flag. These ideals are what we stand for, back of what we are.

But as our nation expanded and increased in wealth, we have recognized, more and more, practices that are inconsistent with the high ideals enunciated by our forefathers, or that are at variance with their standards.

In view of the confusion of ideals and thought and of the perplexing problems created by the World War, we are in need today of a genuine educational and inspirational campaign not of contending political parties with colored and often misleading statements, but of a united America extending to every town and countryside for the restoration and enthronement of our splendid American ideals. It is to this end that the co-ordinated lectures this year of Radcliffe Chautauqua are dedicated. Now, as never before, the people need to hear these constructive messages from the platform. Never before has the spoken word been needed so urgently as today from men who have something to say—men out of whose lives have grown great constructive messages and the speaker who will deliver these lectures here were chosen because were exceptionally well qualified for the task. The Chautauqua Director will lecture on the second day but there will be a different speaker for each of the other two days, and it is expected that those assigned will be:

Col. G. A. Gearheart,

Of Buffalo, N. Y., welcomed in every state as a lecturer with a message that makes a profound appeal to all. A man of attractive presence, clarity of thought, eloquence of diction and power of achievement, he is one of the foremost lecturers of our day.

Dr. Ulysses G. Lacey,

Of Alabama; author, lecturer and traveler, with messages that are thrillingly alive and delivered with soul-stirring power.

Miss Lelah Farmer, of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, is here visiting her aunt, Mrs. A. J. McGuire.

SUFFOCATED IN COAL MINE

J. L. Kidwell and James Thom Overcome Saturday Morning at Ravenscroft; Kidwell Dies.

Saturday morning between midnight and seven o'clock J. L. Kidwell and James Thom were both overcome by bad air in the mines at Ravenscroft and when found Kidwell was dead and Thom unconscious, but when taken home Mr. Thom recovered.

The conditions seem to be about as follows: J. L. Kidwell and Jas. Thom went into the mine to look after a gas engine that was being used to keep the mine free from bad air. The engine had stopped for want of gasoline. Just as they had filled the engine and had it safely running they felt the bad air strike them and both ran for safety. Mr. Thom was in the lead and was so overcome that he fell three times and then lost consciousness. Mr. Kidwell fell also some 30 yards farther back in the mine than Mr. Thom.

Both men were found about seven o'clock in the morning. They had gone in about midnight. When found Kidwell was dead and Thom was also thought to be dead, but when carried to fresh air he revived. He had fallen a few feet from a door, which had been able to reach and open he would have had good air and been safe.

The remains of Kidwell were interred at Smith Chapel, a few miles from Pleasant Hill, Sunday attended by a large crowd. The deceased was about 40 years of age and leaves a wife and five children. He was a Mason, a Woodman, an Odd Fellow and an Indian. The Odd Fellows had charge of the funeral ceremonies. Chas. Comstock, G. P. Burnett, S. C. Cline, M. F. Reed, N. E. Jackson, M. W. West A. J. McClarney, C. B. Turner and Augustus Turner attended the funeral from here Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Lelah DeGolia will entertain the Art Circle this week.

Bob Wallick who has been in the navy for over a year, was discharged at New York a few days ago and returned home Saturday.

Miss Alice Jernigan left yesterday for Powell Station, near Knoxville, for a visit of a few days with the family of C. W. Bell, who formerly lived here.

Miss Kathryn Alsop, of Chattanooga, is the guest of Miss Rhoda Belle DeRossett. Mr. and Mrs. Webb will drive to Chattanooga this week and will be accompanied by Miss DeRossett and Miss Alsop.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Paul Green and Roy Jackson and sister, Miss Antoinette, left for Chattanooga. Mr. Green returned Monday but Mrs. Green remained for a few days to visit with her sister at Signal Mountain. Mr. Jackson and sister went on to Whitwell for a visit with friends. They and Mrs. Green will likely return the last of the week.

Jas. Davis and family of Knoxville have had a most delightful stay of two weeks at Howard Springs. Beautiful scenery, splendid water and congenial people render it a ideal place for a restful vacation. They enjoyed assisting the people organize a Sunday school in the school house. Among such a crowd of charming young people, with consecrated men and women as leaders and teachers. Mr. Davies is an enthusiastic fisherman and has had amazing luck while on the mountain. No need of adding fish to the menu because it was grand without any addition.

E. M. McCart was up from Litton Saturday. Mr. McCart has just gotten home from the hospital at Chattanooga where he was operated upon some three weeks ago for appendicitis. While he is recovering rapidly he is still weak and has to exercise care and is not attempting to work, but expects to be fully recovered within a few weeks.
